Dear Colleague:

We are pleased to release our annual report on donor preferences in the Combined Federal Campaign, sharing here the results of the 2017 CFC and comparing them with the 2015 and 2016 campaigns.

The 2017 CFC was a profound disappointment – to charities that saw pledges plummet, to donors who were forced to work with badly flawed online systems, and, we expect, to government administrators who had high ambitions.

In the end, in the wake of OPM's extensive restructuring of the campaign, donor participation collapsed to just over 4 percent of the government's civilian and military workforce, and pledges sank more than 39 percent to just over $101 million. A year ago, all was in disarray. Indeed, the solicitation of federal employees was delayed by weeks and then months.

Now, as we release this report on the results of last year's campaign, the 2018 CFC has begun. On time. Will the CFC rebound, or will it decline still again? We hope for the former, of course. We hope that the results of this fall's effort will stabilize a program that used to raise more than a quarter of a billion dollars each year.

About the CFC

The CFC has recently changed in many ways. Traditionally, we open our reports with a description of the operational structure of the campaign. We do so again, below. For those interested in a more detailed description of the government-imposed changes, we invite you to read our report, “The New CFC.”

How the Campaign Works

For more than half a century, the U.S. government has sponsored the Combined Federal Campaign.

Each fall, federal employees – civilian, military and postal – are invited to support eligible national and local charities. Employees are directed to either a printed or digital list of every eligible national and international organization, plus the many local groups that have qualified in a particular community.

Employees can pledge online or with a printed pledge card. They are advised to pick one or more groups from the list of qualified organizations and pledge to each one. About four million employees are invited to participate, and thousands do so. Normally, employees authorize their federal payroll office to withhold a particular amount from each paycheck throughout the following calendar year.

A Million Donors Choose

Administration

The CFC is administered nationwide and overseas under the supervision of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM).

OPM has contracted with Give Back Foundation, Inc., and its partner, TASC, Inc., to provide online admissions and pledging services and to distribute donated funds. Generally, OPM refers to these providers as the Central Campaign Administrator (CCA).

OPM also contracts with private providers to promote the campaign to potential donors. These companies are called "Outreach Coordinators," and one such OC is assigned to each of the 36 zones which cover the country and overseas. In the 2017 CFC, there were four such OCs: Kaptive, Maguire/Maguire, Penngood, and Tribal Tech.

Note: There are 36 zones, even though the Overseas zone is numbered 38. Two zones (5 and 8) were eliminated through mergers, and OPM did not renumber the remaining zones.

A Million Donors Choose

Outreach Coordinators handle many of the marketing tasks of the Combined Federal Campaign, including:

- Organizing CFC promotional events and in other ways encouraging employees to become involved in the campaign, and
- Distributing printed CFC charity guides.

Outreach Coordinators also release information concerning campaign promotional events to independent charities and to federations; federations are responsible for passing these notices along to their members.

Local federal volunteers oversee the activities of Outreach Coordinators in each campaign zone. Members of these Local Federal Coordinating Committees, or “LFCCs,” also assist OPM in the review of applications.

Campaign Costs

OPM requires that participating charities pay toward the cost of the campaign. The government hoped that upfront charity fees would be sufficient to cover the entire cost of the program, but this was not the case for the 2017 CFC and is not likely to be the case for years to come. For the 2017 CFC the government was required to collect a post-campaign fee tied to each charity’s total pledges. Here are the three fees as assessed by OPM for the 2017 and 2018 CFCs. Note that OPM has not yet announced the third fee, the distribution fee, for the 2018 campaign. That percentage will reflect the 2018 pledge results.

Funds from the above fees are used to pay the Central Campaign Administrator and the Outreach Coordinators. OPM's own costs for the staff that supervises the CFC are paid from the government's general revenue.

In the 2017 CFC, the revenue associated with the three fees totaled about $26 million, or about 26 percent of the funds pledged by donors.

Note: Historically, actual costs have been lower than budgeted costs. OPM has not yet reported actual costs for the 2017 campaign. We do not know whether the earlier pattern will continue in light of all the administrative changes.

The cost of federation operations (see next page) are not covered by the above fees.

CFC Eligibility

Organizations qualify for the CFC by meeting either local or national/international requirements. Below is a summary of the criteria that were in effect for the 2017 and 2018 campaigns.

To participate in the CFC, an organization had to:

- Be 501(c)(3) tax exempt,
- Account for funds on an accrual basis in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) – if total revenue was above $100K,
- Commission an annual CPA audit (if total revenue was at or above $250K) or review (if total revenue was at or above $100K but below $250K); if the organization had revenue below $100,000, neither an audit or review was required,
- Submit to the IRS an annual informational “tax return” unless IRS rules did not require the organization to file such, and
- Be governed by an active and responsible board whose members had no material conflict of interest and a majority of whom served without compensation.

Additionally, an organization applying at the local level had to be located and active in the CFC zone to which it applied and demonstrate such by listing services provided in the most recently completed calendar year. Organizations applying at the national/international level had to demonstrate that qualifying services were provided in at least 15 U.S. states or at least one foreign country within the three most recently completed calendar years.

Application Components

When a charity applies to the CFC, it must first determine whether it needs to complete a “full” or an “abbreviated” application. A full application is required only once every three years. OPM divided the pool of 2017 charity applicants into thirds. A charity required to submit a full application (all items) in 2017 was able to submit an abbreviated application in 2018 and will be able to do so again in 2019. In 2020, that charity will again have to submit a full application.

A full application consists of the following items:

- an online application form,
- a description of the applicant’s services (“Attachment A”),
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990, and
- audited financial statements (waived for smaller charities).

An abbreviated application consists of only the following:

- an online application form, and
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990.

Charities that did not participate in the CFC in the prior year have to submit a full application.

Federations

Charities may choose to enter the campaign independently, or to affiliate with a federation. Federations are 501(c)(3) tax exempt organizations, each governed by a board of directors. They must be audited annually and satisfy most of the same eligibility criteria met by individual applicants to the CFC. To qualify as a federation, an otherwise eligible organization must submit a minimum of 15 qualified CFC charities in addition to itself.

A Million Donors Choose

Federations review charity applications to the CFC using the same criteria applied by OPM for national, international, and local charities. Federations may apply additional criteria. Once the federations have completed their reviews, they submit their recommended organizations to CFC administrators who then conduct second reviews to ensure that CFC eligibility criteria have been met.

Here are the national and international federations that participated in the 2017 CFC. (Asterisks indicate that a federation name was shortened to save space.)

Organizations that apply through a federation are listed with that federation in the CFC's printed charity directory. Organizations that apply directly to the program are listed in an "Independent" section of the printed directory. The campaign's online system does not currently provide lists of federations and their members or of Independent charities.

An organization that participates in the CFC through a federation receives reports from its federation on how well the organization performs in the campaign. That organization's CFC donations flow through its federation.

A Million Donors Choose

An organization that participates as an Independent group receives pledge reports directly from the Central Campaign Administrator. They also receive donations directly from the CCA.

Federations charge for their services, of course. In the old CFC, federations typically withheld a fee from CFC donations flowing to their members. Depending on the federation and its internal operations, these fees may or may not have been apparent to the participating charities. OPM required that federations publish any such fee in their annual report. But as we reported in 2013, the language describing fees was often hard to find or, once found, hard to understand. To see our full report on this topic, Federation Fees in the Combined Federal Campaign, please visit www.wg-alliance.org/research.

In the new CFC, federations may still withhold their fees from CFC donations, but the government requires that federations inform their members in writing as to the amount being withheld. Each member must receive such a communication (e.g., an email) with the details for that member. OPM also requires that it receive a copy of whatever communication is sent to each charity.

Placement in the Printed Directory

Charity placement in the printed directory has a notable impact on donor choice. As can happen with any lengthy list, groups listed at the front of the book appear to perform better. The government seeks to even out this effect through two techniques.

First, the government rotates the three main sections of the directory. Below, we show the order of the printed directory for the three years included in this report. We highlight International Organizations so that the reader can see how placement shifts.

2017	Local Organizations – front of the directory National Organizations – middle of the directory International Organizations – back of the directory
2016	National Organizations – front of the directory International Organizations – middle of the directory Local Organizations – back of the directory
2015	International Organizations – front of the directory Local Organizations – middle of the directory National Organizations – back of the directory

Second, within each main section of the directory, the government randomizes the sequence of the federations. Below is the order of the international federations for three years (note that it is not alphabetical). We highlight one federation, Aid for Africa, to show its change of position over the years.

A Million Donors Choose

Order	2017	2016	2015
1	Child Aid International	Global Impact	Global Impact
2	Aid for Africa	Intl Independent Orgs	Child Aid International
3	Haiti Aid	Aid For Africa	Build a Better World
4	Build a Better World	Child Aid International	Charity Without Borders
5	Jewish Aid Worldwide	Build A Better World	Intl Independent Orgs
6	Global Impact	Charity Without Borders	Jewish Aid Worldwide
7	Intl Independent Orgs	Jewish Aid Worldwide	Aid for Africa
		Haiti Aid	Haiti Aid

Within a federation's own list, the order of its members is customarily alphabetical.

Online search in the CFC

Searching for a charity within the printed charity guide is traditional and familiar. There is a table of contents, in which federations are listed. If donors are interested in "Medical Research Charities," they flip to a specific page and find the 25 or so charities listed under the heading of this federation. Donors can also search the alphabetic index for a specific charity, or they can simply flip through the printed directory and browse eligible charities.

In more recent years, the government has caught up with the digital age and donors can now also search for charities using an online search tool. Prior to the 2017 CFC, online search was managed by local campaign administrators, zone by zone. In a 2013 report on the topic of online search in the CFC, the Workplace Giving Alliance looked at the tremendous variance of results when searching for charities using different online search tools. We expressed our concern that online search in the CFC was being poorly managed.

We have communicated with OPM repeatedly concerning the campaign's online search function, providing our report on more than one occasion. We have continued to test: The problems persist.

As illustration, we note that searching for "art" still results in a long list of environmental organizations, since the word "art" appears in the word "earth." Similarly, when searching for "cat," organizations appear that work in the field of "education." Readers interested in this and other difficulties with the CFC's online search system may find our report, Helping a Million Donors Choose: Online Search in the CFC, at www.wg-alliance.org/research.

You may also search yourself by visiting <https://cfcgiving.opm.gov/welcome>.

In the pages that follow, we examine the CFC performance of the 2,057 national and international organizations (plus federations) that participated in the 2017 CFC. We also reflect data from the 2016 and 2015 campaigns for comparison.

We look at the pledge results for individual charities from year to year, highlight swings in performance both upwards and downwards, analyze trends in donor giving by topic, and consider the impact of charity overhead.

As the table shows, employee participation dropped sharply in 2017, both in terms of the participation rate and the amount pledged.

OPM has provided a breakdown of 2017 pledging by type of employee. The table below will be especially useful as we receive results for the 2018 and subsequent campaigns.

A Million Donors Choose

The number of charities participating in the CFC has dropped as well as pledges. Many (including us) warned that OPM's new fees would discourage groups from applying to the campaign. The table below shows the extent of this drop among national and international charities. A similar drop occurred with local charities.

In the remainder of this report, we focus on the pledge results for the national and international charities that participated in the 2017 campaign, with comparisons to their performance in 2016 and 2015.

- The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results
- Top 100
- Results by Topic
- Impact of Charity Overhead

A Million Donors Choose

The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results

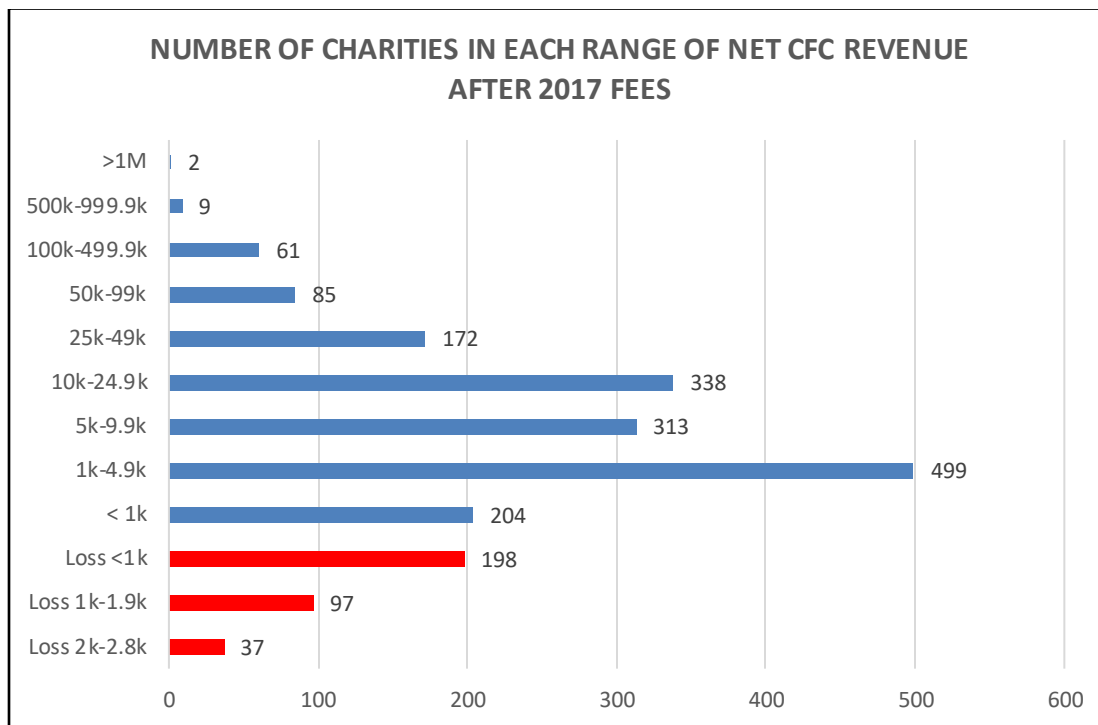

We start with a table that shows charity performance by pledge range. The first table shows that two charities received more than $1 million in pledges in 2017. By way of contrast, 10 groups exceeded a million dollars in pledges in each of the preceding two years of the campaign.

We blend the above table with figures reflecting what charities paid to participate in the 2017 CFC. In the table on the next page, we reflect the impact of all three OPM fees: the application fee, the listing fee, and the distribution fee. We do not include what charities paid their federations – if they participated as a member of a federation.

As one can see, a substantial number of participating charities lost money in the 2017 CFC – meaning they paid more to participate than they are likely to receive from the campaign. One in six participants fell into that unhappy class. If we add groups that raised less than $1,000 in pledges, that ratio rises to more than one in four.

As we argued when OPM was considering fees, charities participate in the CFC to raise money. When there is a real possibility that they will spend more than they raise, charities will naturally hesitate at the time of application. The results we are seeing now will only serve to reinforce that caution.

Top 100

We present in the following pages results for the 100 national and international organizations receiving the highest pledges in the 2017 CFC. The amounts actually received by the charities will be less, primarily reflecting three factors:

- The amount withheld by the CFC itself to help cover its costs. OPM refers to this as a “distribution fee.” That fee was 16.5% of the pledge total for each charity.
- Pledges that are not fulfilled. We cannot know this figure until a campaign’s distributions are complete, but we estimate it to be roughly 2 percent of total pledges.
- The amount withheld by a charity’s federation. This will vary widely, reflecting the policies of individual federations. Charities participating independently will not be subject to this last cost.

In the 2017 CFC, St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital received the highest pledge total of $4,648,650. This amount was more than 30% lower than the 2016 estimated total of $7,097,200. Doctors Without Borders, with pledges of $1,432,730, moved into second place from third place in the two prior years. This pledge total was also sharply down, but DWB competitors experienced even greater losses. Pledges to Wounded Warrior Project and the American National Red Cross, in third and fourth place respectively, fell to just under $1 million each, failing to reach the seven-figure mark for the first time in many years. The last charity within the Top 100 was the Lupus Foundation of America, which received $94,747 in pledges.

The first table below lists the Top 100 in descending pledge order. Also included are each charity’s CFC number and federation affiliation, if the group was a member of a federation in the 2017 CFC. We have

Our next table displays the pledge totals for the Top 100, organized by federation. The reader will see that 89 of the top 100 charities were affiliated with a federation. We include the American Red Cross and USO which have federation status in the CFC but have no members.

Community Health Charities had 14 members in the top 100, receiving around $7.5 million in pledges. Federations, including Community Health Charities, have additional members, of course. Our table is limited to the Top 100.

We next present a table that compares the 2017 pledges totals to the 2016 totals. The list is limited to the Top 100 charities.

As has been widely reported, total pledges in the 2017 CFC were below the total for the 2016 CFC; the actual drop was 39.3 percent. An organization that saw its own pledge total drop by less than 39.3 percent effectively performed better than the CFC as a whole. We have, therefore, broken the table into three sections:

- Organizations that saw their 2017 pledge total actually rise in comparison to 2016
- Organizations that saw their 2017 pledge total drop – but by an amount less than 39.3 percent
- Organizations that saw their 2017 pledge total drop by 39.3 percent or more.

Three Top 100 organizations in the 2017 CFC did not participate in 2016, so the list below shows only 97 groups.

Results by Topic

When organizations apply to the CFC, they are asked to describe their services by selecting from 26 topical categories offered by the government. These categories are based on the National Taxonomy of Exempt Entities (NTEE), which is used by the IRS to classify nonprofit organizations. While it is not clear whether many donors search for charities by these categories, they do provide a useful tool to help understand the extent of donor interest in any particular cause.

Taxonomy (NTEE) Codes

The CFC invites applicant charities to select up to three categories. A group might select category H (Medical Research) first, Category G (Voluntary Health Associations & Medical Disciplines) second, and Category B (Education) third. In the CFC Charity Directory, all three categories would be included in the organization's listing: H, G, B. Many charities select only one or two categories.

Our next table shows the performance of charities in each category on average – i.e., the total amount pledged divided by the number of benefiting groups. The three right-hand columns compare the ranking for the last three years. Big shifts in rankings from one year to the next may reflect a category change for a high-performing organization rather than a major difference in donor sentiment.

Impact of Charity Overhead

Each organization's listing in the CFC Charity Directory contains a number the government calls the Administrative and Fundraising Rate (AFR). It is intended to help donors understand the administrative overhead of participating charities. When organizations applied to the CFC, they were required to calculate this overhead using figures from the group's most recent IRS Form 990, using the formula below:

$$(\text{Fundraising Expenses} + \text{Management Expenses}) \div \text{Revenue} = \text{CFC Administrative Overhead \%}$$

Note that the formula does not use total expense as the denominator, as is more commonly done. OPM has long felt that dividing by the revenue generates a more useful figure. Donors can find the administrative overhead figure in the CFC Charity List (printed or online version) in the paragraph following the name of the organization. The data suggest that many donors take note of the AFR figure but may overlook a higher overhead if a charity is well known and trusted.
