Dear Colleague:

We are pleased to release our annual report on donor preferences in the Combined Federal Campaign, sharing here the results of the 2018 CFC and comparing them with the 2016 and 2017 campaigns.

The 2018 CFC continued the slide of the CFC, with pledges dropping 11 percent in comparison with the totals of the year before. Unfortunately, charities and donors continue to leave the campaign.

Last year's campaign was showing some signs of a rebound from the profoundly disappointing 2017 campaign – until the partial government shutdown in December and January disrupted all momentum. In the wake of the shutdown, OPM extended the solicitation period well into early 2019, but the damage was done.

As we release this report on 2018 results, the 2019 CFC is underway. As far as we can tell, the government's campaign systems are working so we have reason for cautious optimism.

OPM and the team it has assembled to run the CFC have much work to do to recapture the interest, let alone the enthusiasm, of both federal employees and charities. Employee participation dropped to less than 4 percent in 2018; charity participation is off two thirds from only a few years ago.

Still, despite every hurdle, federal employees remain generous, donating millions of dollars as well as their time. Indeed, last winter, during the shutdown, federal workers were reminded of the key role charities play in our country as many of those suddenly without paychecks turned to groups in their communities – themselves recipients of CFC donations – for help.

Despite the challenges, we hope that the results of this fall's effort will stabilize a program that once raised more than a quarter of a billion dollars each year.

Report Highlights

- OPM reported pledges totaling $90,237,954 for the 2018 CFC, a drop of 11 percent from the total reported by OPM for the 2017 CFC. This decline continued a multi-year downward trend: The pledge total for the 2016 campaign was an estimated $167,123,000. These totals reflect all employee pledges, whether directed toward a national, international or local charity.
- Employee participation in the 2018 CFC dropped to 3.9 percent of the solicited population, according to OPM figures. In 2017, the participation rate had been 4.3 percent and in 2016, the rate had been 10.7 percent.
- Charity participation in the CFC also continued its downward trend. The number of national and international groups participating in the 2018 CFC was 1,797, down from 2,057 the year before. OPM has released the number of national and international groups participating in the 2019 CFC: 1,487. Similar declines can be seen in the participation of local charities.
- A substantial number of charities paid more to participate in the 2018 CFC than they are likely to receive from donated funds. Within the pool of national and international participants, 10 percent appear on track to lose money. If we include groups that received less than $1,000 in pledges, 18 percent of national and international participants will lose or come close to losing money.
- Donors did not fulfill on about 10 percent of the amount they pledged in the 2017 campaign, an unusually high non-fulfillment rate for the CFC.
- The three top performers in 2018 were St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Doctors without Borders, and American National Red Cross.

About the CFC

With the start of the 2017 campaign year, the CFC has changed in many ways. Traditionally, we open our reports with a description of the operational structure of the campaign. We do so again, below. For those interested in a more detailed description of the government's changes to the program, we invite you to read our report, "The New CFC."

Pledge results from the 2018 CFC begin on page 16.

How the Campaign Works

For more than half a century, the U.S. government has sponsored the Combined Federal Campaign.

Each fall, federal employees – civilian, military and postal – are invited to support charities through workplace donations. Employees are directed to either a printed or digital list of every eligible national and international organization, plus the many local groups that have qualified because of their work in their community.

Employees can pledge online or with a printed pledge card. They are advised to pick one or more groups from the list of qualified organizations and pledge to each one. About four million employees are invited to participate, and thousands do so. Normally, employees authorize their federal payroll office to withhold a specific amount from each paycheck throughout the following calendar year.

online system.

The screenshot shows the "Welcome to the CFC Donor Pledging System" page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the CFC logo and links for "Find A Charity Q", "About The CFC Campaign | FAQs | Contact Us", and "Official Website of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management". The main content area has a large blue banner that says "Join The 2018 Giving Campaign" and "We Give Because We Care". Below this, there's a section for "Official Solicitation Period September 10, 2018 - January 11, 2019". To the right of the banner, there's a login section with "Don't Have An Account?" and "Sign Up Now", and "Already Registered?" with fields for "Email" and "Password", and a "Sign In" button. Below the banner, there are three boxes: "About The Combined Federal Campaign" with a "Learn More" button, "Get Your CFC Zone News" with a "GO" button, and "Find A CFC Approved Charity" with a "Search" button. At the bottom, there's a footer with "Privacy Policy | Privacy Statement | Public Burden Statement | Terms of Use", "Offered by Give Back Foundation", and "Services provided by TASC".

A Million Donors Choose

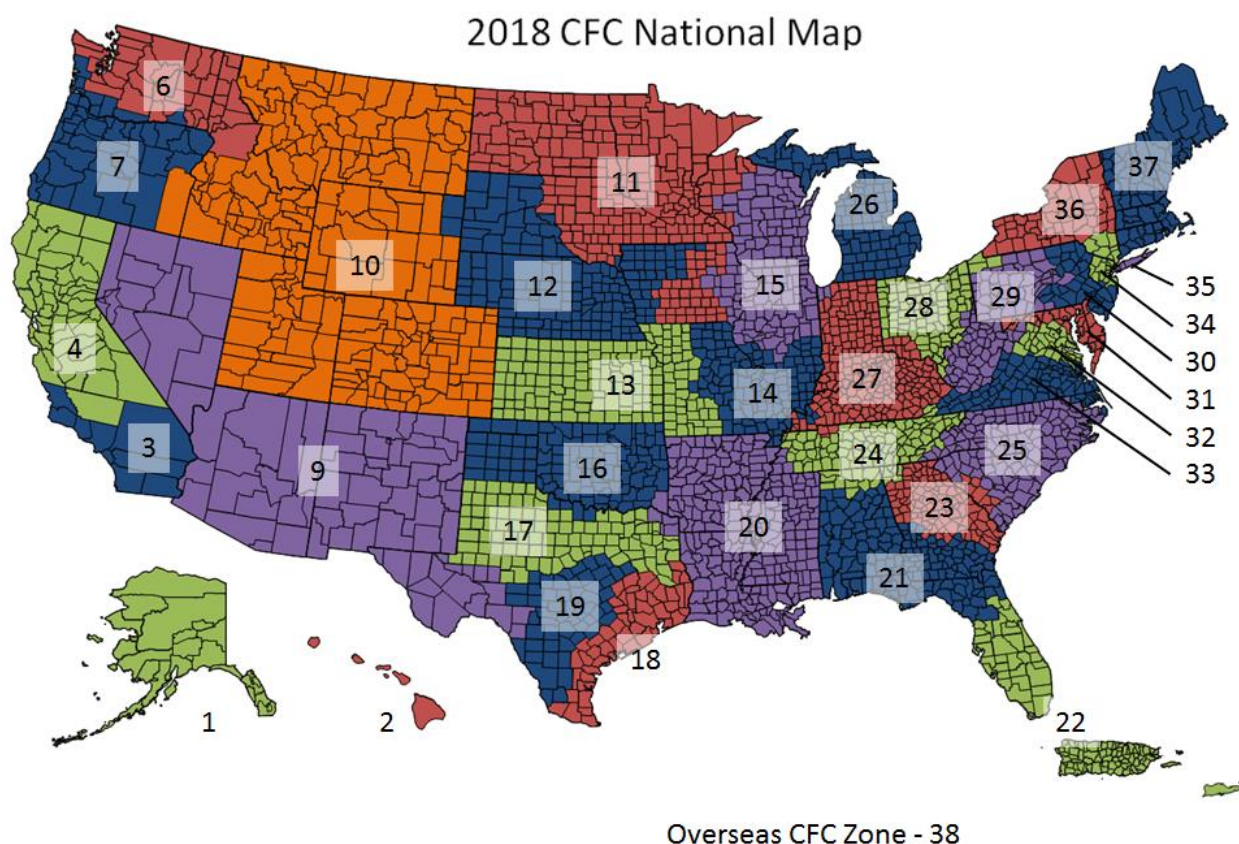

Administration

The CFC is administered nationwide and overseas under the supervision of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM).

OPM has contracted with Give Back Foundation, Inc., and its partner, TASC, Inc., to provide online admissions and pledging services and to distribute donated funds. Generally, OPM refers to these providers as the Central Campaign Administrator (CCA).

OPM also contracts with private providers to promote the campaign to potential donors. These companies are called “Outreach Coordinators,” and one such OC is assigned to each of the 36 zones which cover the country and overseas. In the 2018 CFC, there were four such OCs: Kaptive, Maguire/Maguire, Penngood, and Tribal Tech.

Note: There are 36 zones, even though the Overseas zone is numbered 38. Two zones (5 and 8) were eliminated through mergers, and OPM did not renumber the remaining zones.

A Million Donors Choose

Outreach Coordinators handle many of the marketing tasks of the Combined Federal Campaign, including:

- Organizing CFC promotional events and in other ways encouraging employees to become involved in the campaign, and
- Distributing printed CFC charity guides and pledge forms.

Outreach Coordinators also release information concerning campaign promotional events to independent charities and to federations; federations are responsible for passing these notices along to their members.

Local federal volunteers oversee the activities of Outreach Coordinators in each campaign zone. Members of these Local Federal Coordinating Committees, or “LFCCs,” also assist OPM in the review of applications.

Campaign Costs

OPM requires that participating charities pay toward the cost of the campaign. The government hoped that upfront charity fees would cover the entire cost of the program, but this has not been the case. To cover the operational costs of both the 2017 and 2018 CFC, the government was forced to collect a post-campaign fee tied to each charity’s total pledges. Here are the three fees as assessed by OPM for the 2017 and 2018 CFCs.

³ Tier III organizations are those that report less than $250,000 in revenue on the IRS Form 990 (or pro forma IRS Form 990) submitted with the CFC application.

Funds from the above fees are used to pay the Central Campaign Administrator and the Outreach Coordinators. OPM's own costs for the staff that supervises the CFC are paid from the government's general revenue.

The table below displays budgeted costs for the CFC, by year, as reported by OPM. We have shaded 2015 and 2016 to denote the shift from the old regulations to the new regulations which took hold for the 2017 campaign. OPM hopes that administrative costs will decline once the initial costs of developing the new online systems have been recaptured. In the meantime, costs in the last two years were higher than those before the administrative systems changed.

CFC Eligibility

Organizations qualify for the CFC by meeting either local or national/international requirements. Below is a summary of the criteria for the 2017, 2018 and 2019 campaigns.

To participate in the CFC, an organization had to:

- Be 501(c)(3) tax exempt,
- Account for funds on an accrual basis in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) – if total revenue was above $100K,
- Commission an annual CPA audit (if total revenue was at or above $250K) or review (if total revenue was at or above $100K but below $250K); if the organization had revenue below $100,000, neither an audit nor review was required,
- Submit to the IRS an annual informational “tax return” unless IRS rules did not require the organization to file such, and
- Be governed by an active and responsible board whose members had no material conflict of interest and a majority of whom served without compensation.

Additionally, an organization applying at the local level had to be located and active in the CFC zone to which it applied and demonstrate such by listing services provided in the most recently completed calendar year. Organizations applying at the national/international level had to demonstrate qualifying services in at least 15 U.S. states or at least one foreign country within the three most recently completed calendar years.

Application Components

When a charity applies to the CFC, it must first determine whether it needs to complete a “full” or a “verification” application. A full application is required only once every three years. OPM divided the pool of 2017 charity applicants into thirds. A charity required to submit a full application (all items) in 2017 was able to submit a verification application in 2018 and in 2019. In 2020, that charity will again have to submit a full application.

A full application consists of the following items:

- an online application form,
- a description of the applicant’s services (“Attachment A”),
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990, and
- audited financial statements (waived for smaller charities).

A verification application consists of only the following:

- an online application form, and
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990.

Charities that did not participate in the CFC in the prior year must submit a full application.

Federations

Charities may choose to enter the campaign independently, or to affiliate with a federation. Federations are 501(c)(3) tax exempt organizations, each governed by a board of directors. They must be audited annually and satisfy most of the same eligibility criteria met by individual applicants to the CFC. To qualify as a federation, an otherwise eligible organization must submit and represent a minimum of 15 qualified CFC charities in addition to itself.

Federations review charity applications to the CFC using the same criteria applied by OPM for national, international, and local charities. Federations may apply additional criteria. Once the federations have completed their reviews, they submit their recommended organizations to CFC administrators, who then conduct second reviews to ensure that CFC eligibility criteria have been met.

Here are the national and international federations that participated in the 2018 CFC. (Asterisks indicate that a federation name was shortened to save space.)

Organizations that apply through a federation are listed with that federation in the CFC's printed charity directory. Organizations that apply directly to the program are listed in an "Independent" section of the printed directory. The campaign's online system does not currently provide lists of federations and their members or of Independent charities.

An organization that participates in the CFC through a federation receives reports from its federation on how well the organization performs in the campaign. That organization's CFC donations flow through its federation.

An organization that participates as an Independent group receives pledge reports directly from the Central Campaign Administrator. They also receive donations directly from the CCA.

Generally, federations charge for their services. In the old CFC, federations typically withheld a fee from CFC donations flowing to their members. Depending on the federation and its internal operations, these fees may or may not have been apparent to the participating charities. OPM required that federations publish any such fee in their annual report. But as we reported in 2013, the language describing fees was often hard to find or, once found, hard to understand. To see our full report on this topic, Federation Fees in the Combined Federal Campaign, please visit www.wg-alliance.org/research.

In the new CFC, federations may still withhold their fees from CFC donations, but the government requires that federations inform their members in writing as to the amount being withheld. Each member must receive such a communication (e.g., an email) with the details for that member. Federations must send copies of these communications to OPM.

Placement in the Printed Directory

Charity placement in the printed directory affects donor choice. As can happen with any lengthy list, groups listed at the front of the book appear to perform better. The government seeks to even out this effect through two techniques.

First, the government rotates the three main sections of the directory. Below, we show the order of the printed directory for the three years included in this report. We highlight International Organizations so that the reader can see how placement shifts.

2018	International Organizations – front of the directory Local Organizations – middle of the directory National Organizations – back of the directory
2017	Local Organizations – front of the directory National Organizations – middle of the directory International Organizations – back of the directory
2016	National Organizations – front of the directory International Organizations – middle of the directory Local Organizations – back of the directory

Second, within each main section of the directory, the government randomizes the sequence of the federations. Below is the order of the international federations for three years (note that it is not alphabetical). We highlight one federation, Aid for Africa, to show its change of position over the years.

A Million Donors Choose

Order	2018	2017	2016
1	Intl Independent Orgs	Child Aid International	Global Impact
2	Charity Without Borders	Aid for Africa	Intl Independent Orgs
3	Global Impact	Haiti Aid	Aid for Africa
4	Child Aid International	Village by Village	Child Aid International
5	Village by Village	Jewish Aid Worldwide	Village by Village
6	Aid for Africa	Global Impact	Charity Without Borders
7		Intl Independent Orgs	Jewish Aid Worldwide

Within a federation's own list, the order of its members is customarily alphabetical.

Online search in the CFC

Searching for a charity within the printed charity guide is traditional and familiar. There is a table of contents, in which federations are listed. If donors are interested in "Medical Research Charities," they flip to a specific page and find the 15, 20 or more charities listed under the heading of this federation. Donors can also search the alphabetic index for a specific charity, or they can simply flip through the printed directory and browse eligible charities.

In more recent years, the government has caught up with the digital age, and donors can now also search for charities using an online search tool. Prior to the 2017 CFC, online search was managed by local campaign administrators, zone by zone. In a 2013 report on the topic of online search in the CFC, the Workplace Giving Alliance looked at the tremendous variance of results when searching for charities using different online search tools. We expressed our concern that online search in the CFC was being poorly managed.

We have communicated with OPM repeatedly concerning the campaign's online search function, providing our report on more than one occasion. We have continued to test: The problems persist.

As illustration, we note that searching for "art" still results in a long list of organizations that have nothing to do with art but, instead, have the three letters a r t in their name. Similarly, when searching for "cat," organizations appear that have c a t in their name. The problem, of course, is that donors become frustrated when they cannot easily find charities they wish to support. Readers interested in this and other difficulties with the CFC's online search system may find our report, Helping a Million Donors Choose: Online Search in the CFC, at www.wg-alliance.org/research.

You may also search yourself by visiting <https://cfcgiving.opm.gov/welcome>.

In the pages that follow, we examine the CFC performance of the 1,797 national and international organizations (including federations) that participated in the 2018 CFC. We also reflect data from the 2016 and 2017 campaigns for comparison.

We look at the pledge results for individual charities from year to year, highlight swings in performance both upwards and downwards, analyze trends in donor giving by topic, and consider the impact of charity overhead.

2018 Pledge Results

Overview

This report includes pledge results from three CFC cycles: 2016, 2017, and 2018. Pledge data was obtained from local campaign administrators for 2016 and from OPM for 2017 and 2018.

CFC Year	# PCFOs in Our Sample	Share of Total Campaign
2016	57	61.8%
2017	Data from OPM	100.0%
2018	Data from OPM	100.0%

The pledge figures for 2016 were extrapolated to 100 percent to allow year-over-year comparisons.

Below are summary figures released by the Office of Personnel Management for the last three campaigns. (OPM rules now allow new employees to begin their participation in the CFC at the time of their hiring. Pledge numbers for the 2017 and 2018 campaigns, therefore, are not static.)

A Million Donors Choose

The number of charities participating in the CFC has dropped as well as pledges. Many (including us) warned that OPM's new fees would discourage groups from applying to the campaign. The table below shows the extent of this drop among national and international charities. Participation by local charities dropped more sharply. This table reports the number of national and international charities participating in the 2019 CFC as well as earlier years.

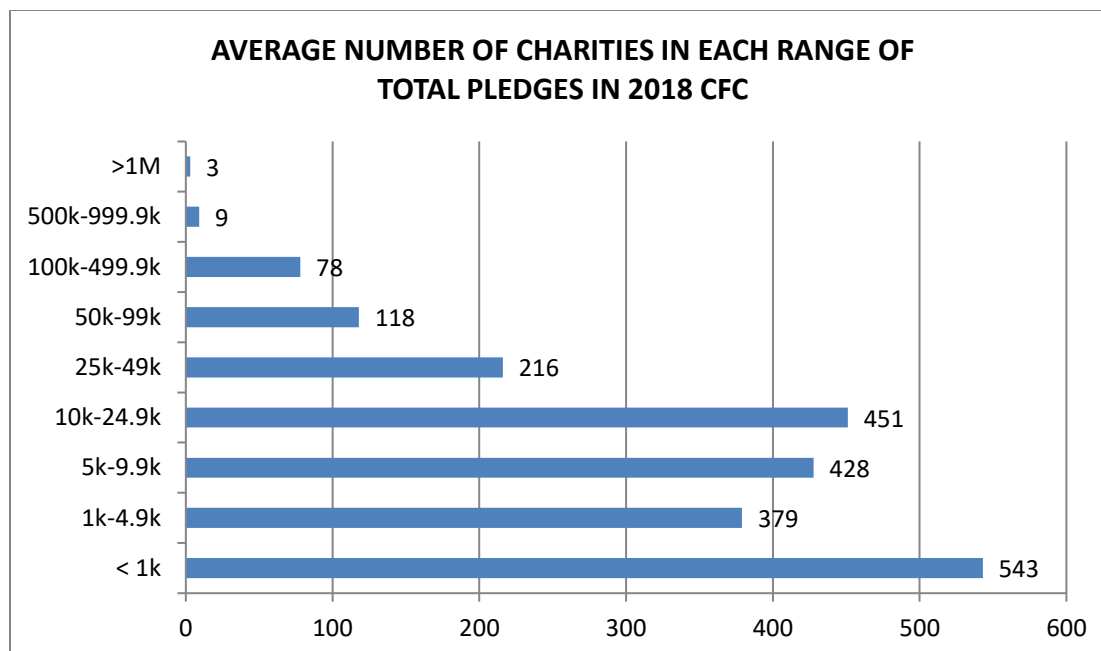

In the remainder of this report, we focus on the pledge results for the national and international charities that participated in the 2018 campaign, with comparisons to their performance in 2016 and 2017.

The sections below provide analysis of the data under the following headings:

- The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results
- Top 100
- Results by Topic
- Impact of Charity Overhead

The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results

We start with a table that shows charity performance by pledge range. The first table shows that three charities received more than $1 million in pledges in 2018.

The next table amends the table immediately above to reflect what charities paid to participate in the 2018 CFC through the three OPM fees: the application fee, the listing fee, and the distribution fee. We do not include what charities paid their federations – if they participated as a member of a federation.

A substantial number of participating charities lost money in the 2018 CFC – meaning they paid more to participate than they are likely to receive from the campaign. About 10 percent of participating national and international charities fell into that unhappy class. If we add groups that raised less than $1,000 in pledges and acknowledge the value of charity staff time connected to the CFC, more than 18 percent invested more to participate in 2018 than they are likely to raise.

Unfortunately, the news gets worse because some donors fail to fulfill their pledges. In the 2017 CFC, that non-fulfillment effect was the equivalent of 10 percent of the total pledged. The level of non-fulfillment varied by charity, with some groups receiving everything they anticipated (after OPM and federation fees were deducted). But more than 100 national and international charities experienced a non-fulfillment effect of at least 25 percent.

We have not adjusted our data to reflect non-fulfillment, but – to state the obvious – charities participate in the CFC to raise money. When there is a real possibility that they will spend more than they raise, charities will naturally hesitate at the time of application. The results we are seeing now will only serve to reinforce that caution.

Non-fulfillment estimated at 10 percent of pledges is not reflected in this chart.

We present in the following pages results for the 100 national and international organizations receiving the highest pledges in the 2018 CFC. The amounts eventually received by the charities will be less, primarily reflecting the factors discussed immediately above.

In the 2018 CFC, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital received the highest pledge total of $3,607,068, down from $4,648,650 in 2017. Doctors Without Borders was second, with pledges of $1,309,077, down from $1,432,730 in the prior year. The American National Red Cross rounded out the top three, with $1,236,476 in pledges in the 2018 CFC. The last charity within the Top 100 was Amnesty International with $92,955 in pledges.

The first table below lists the Top 100 in descending pledge order. Also included are each charity's CFC number and federation affiliation, if the group was a member of a federation in the 2017 CFC. We have shortened some of the charity and federation names to save space. For purposes of comparison, we list to the far right of the chart each charity's rank for 2017 and 2016.

Our next table displays the pledge totals for the Top 100, organized by federation. The reader will see that 88 of the top 100 charities were affiliated with a federation. We include the American Red Cross and USO which have federation status in the CFC but have no members.

A Million Donors Choose

Community Health Charities had 12 members in the top 100, receiving around $6 million in pledges. Federations, including Community Health Charities, have additional members, of course. Our table is limited to the Top 100.

We next present a table that compares the 2018 pledges totals to the 2017 totals. The list is limited to the Top 100 charities.

Total pledges in the 2018 CFC were 11 percent below the total for the 2017 CFC. An organization that saw its own pledge total drop by less than 11 percent effectively performed better than the full CFC. We have, therefore, broken the table into three sections:

- Organizations that saw their 2018 pledge total rise in comparison to 2017
- Organizations that saw their 2018 pledge total drop – but by an amount less than 11 percent
- Organizations that saw their 2018 pledge total drop by 11 percent or more.

Results by Topic

Organizations applying to the CFC are asked to describe their services by selecting from 26 topical categories offered by the government. These categories are based on the National Taxonomy of Exempt Entities (NTEE), which is used by the IRS to classify nonprofit organizations. While it is not clear whether many donors search for charities by these categories, they do provide a useful tool to help understand the extent of donor interest in any specific cause.

The CFC invites applicant charities to select up to three categories. A group might select category H (Medical Research) first, Category G (Voluntary Health Associations & Medical Disciplines) second, and Category B (Education) third. In the CFC Charity Directory, all three categories would be included in the organization's listing: H, G, B. Many charities select only one or two categories.

For our analysis, presented below, we have used only the first category – meaning the category listed first by each participating charity.

The table below shows the 2018 results, by category. They are in descending order.

Our next table shows the average performance of charities in each category – i.e., the total amount pledged divided by the number of benefiting groups. The three right-hand columns compare the ranking for the last three years. Big shifts in rankings from one year to the next may reflect a category change for a high-performing organization rather than a major difference in donor sentiment.

Impact of Charity Overhead

Each organization's listing in the CFC Charity Directory contains a number the government calls the Administrative and Fundraising Rate (AFR). It is intended to help donors understand the administrative overhead of participating charities. When organizations applied to the CFC, they were required to calculate this overhead using figures from the group's most recent IRS Form 990. Here is the formula:

$$(\text{Fundraising Expenses} + \text{Management Expenses}) \div \text{Revenue} = \text{CFC Administrative Overhead \%}$$

Note that the formula does not use total expense as the denominator, as is more commonly done. OPM has long felt that dividing by the revenue generates a more useful figure. Donors can find the administrative overhead figure in the CFC Charity Directory (printed or online version) in the paragraph following the name of the organization. The data suggest that many donors take note of the AFR figure but may overlook a higher overhead if a charity is well known and trusted.
