Dear Colleague:

We are pleased to release our annual report on donor preferences in the Combined Federal Campaign, sharing here the results of the 2019 CFC and comparing them with the 2017 and 2018 campaigns.

The 2019 CFC continued the slide of the CFC, with pledges during the official solicitation period dropping 10.5 percent in comparison with the totals of the year before. Unfortunately, charities and donors continue to leave the campaign.

We have warned on other occasions that the overhead of the CFC is rising to a disturbing level. The amount spent on administration (whether charities pay up front or funds are withheld from donations) is now more than 32 percent of the total pledged by donors. The government itself has long sought to limit access to the campaign to groups with an overhead below 25 percent. It is dismaying that the campaign's operating costs are now consuming so large a portion of the donated funds.

We continue to hope that OPM will reform the administration of the CFC such that costs drop. We also hope that participation by federal employees will rise in 2020 and beyond.

Our thanks to everyone who has helped us with this and earlier reports. Our thanks as well to federal donors who have remained loyal to the idea of supporting the work of charities across the United States and overseas.

Report Highlights

- OPM reported pledges totaling $80,951,949 for the 2019 CFC official solicitation period, a drop of 10.5 percent from the total reported by OPM for the 2018 CFC. This decline continued a multi-year downward trend: The pledge total for the 2016 campaign was an estimated $167,123,000.
- An additional $2.6 million was pledged during a special COVID-19 solicitation period held from April – June 2020. Since we do not have charity by charity pledge information for these extra funds, we do not include the additional $2.6 million within the data of this report.
- Employee participation in the 2019 CFC dropped to 3.38 percent of the solicited population, down from 3.9 percent in the 2018 CFC. In 2017, the participation rate had been 4.3 percent. In 2016, the rate had been 10.7 percent. OPM statistics show the same number of employees solicited in each of the last three campaign years – which introduces the question as to how reliable the “denominator” of this formula is.
- Charity participation in the CFC also continued its downward trend. The number of national and international organizations participating in the 2019 CFC was 1,481, down from 1,797 the year before. In 2017, 2,057 national and international charities participated and, in 2016, there were 2,603. Similar declines can be seen in the participation of local charities.
- The number of national and international federations continued a steady decline as well. The number of national and international federations participating in the 2019 CFC was 21, down from 33 the year before. In the 2017 CFC, 42 national and international federations participated in the CFC. In part, federations serve the CFC by recruiting charities. The decline in federation is both a symptom of the general decline in the campaign and, quite likely, a factor leading to that decline.
- A substantial number of charities paid more to participate in the 2019 CFC than they are likely to receive from donated funds. Within the pool of national and international participants, 10 percent appear on track to lose money. If we include groups that received less than $1,000 in pledges, 18 percent of national and international participants will lose or come close to losing money.
- The three top performers in 2019 were St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital, American National Red Cross, and Doctors without Borders.

About the CFC

With the start of the 2017 campaign year, the CFC changed in many ways. Traditionally, we open our reports with a description of the operational structure of the campaign. We do so again, below. For those interested in a more detailed description of the government's changes to the program, we invite you to read our report, "The New CFC."

Pledge results from the 2019 CFC begin on page 16.

How the Campaign Works

For more than half a century, the U.S. government has sponsored the Combined Federal Campaign.

Each fall, federal employees (civilian, military and postal), retirees, and contractors are invited to support charities through workplace donations. Potential donors are directed to either a printed or digital list of every eligible national and international organization, plus the many local groups that have qualified because of their work in their community.

Employees can pledge online or with a printed pledge card. They are advised to pick one or more groups from the charity list and pledge to each one. About four million people are invited to participate, and thousands do so. Normally, donors authorize their federal payroll office to withhold a specific amount from each paycheck throughout the following calendar year.

Administration

The CFC is administered nationwide and overseas under the supervision of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM).

OPM has contracted with Give Back Foundation, Inc., and its partner, TASC, Inc., to provide online admissions and pledging services and to distribute donated funds. Generally, OPM refers to these providers as the Central Campaign Administrator (CCA).

OPM also contracts with private providers to promote the campaign to potential donors. These companies are called "Outreach Coordinators," and one such OC is assigned to each of the 36 zones which cover the country and overseas. In the 2019 CFC, there were four active OCs: Kaptive, Maguire/Maguire, Penngood, and Tribal Tech.

Note: There are 36 zones, even though the Overseas zone is numbered 38. Two zones (5 and 8) were eliminated through mergers, and OPM did not renumber the remaining zones.

A Million Donors Choose

Outreach Coordinators handle many of the marketing tasks of the Combined Federal Campaign, including:

- Organizing CFC promotional events and in other ways encouraging employees to become involved in the campaign, and
- Distributing printed CFC charity guides and pledge forms.

Outreach Coordinators also release information concerning campaign promotional events to independent charities and to federations; federations are responsible for passing these notices along to their members.

Local federal volunteers oversee the activities of Outreach Coordinators in each campaign zone. Members of these Local Federal Coordinating Committees, or “LFCCs,” also assist OPM in the review of applications.

Campaign Costs

OPM requires that participating charities pay toward the cost of the campaign. The government hoped that upfront charity fees would cover the entire cost of the program, but this has not been the case. To cover the operational costs of both the 2017, 2018, and 2019 CFC, the government was forced to collect a post-campaign fee tied to each charity’s total pledges. Here are the three fees as assessed by OPM for the 2018 and 2019 CFCs.

Funds from the above fees are used to pay the Central Campaign Administrator and the Outreach Coordinators. OPM’s own costs for the staff that supervises the CFC are paid from the government’s general revenue.

The table below displays budgeted costs for the CFC, by year, as reported by OPM. We have shaded 2015 and 2016 to denote the shift from the old regulations to the new regulations which took hold for the 2017 campaign. OPM hopes that administrative costs will decline now that the initial costs of developing the new online systems have been recaptured. In the meantime, costs as a percentage of pledges have continued to rise during the last three years and are substantially higher than those before the administrative systems changed.

The cost of federation operations (see the bottom of the next page) are not covered by the above fees.

CFC Eligibility

Organizations qualify for the CFC by meeting either local or national/international requirements. Below is a summary of the criteria for the 2017, 2018 and 2019 campaigns.

To participate in the CFC, an organization had to:

- Be 501(c)(3) tax exempt,
- Account for funds on an accrual basis in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) – if total revenue was at or above $100K,
- Commission an annual CPA audit (if total revenue was at or above $250K) or review (if total revenue was at or above $100K but below $250K); if the organization had revenue below $100,000, neither an audit nor review was required,
- Submit to the IRS an annual informational “tax return” unless IRS rules did not require the organization to file such, and
- Be governed by an active and responsible board whose members had no material conflict of interest and a majority of whom served without compensation.

Additionally, an organization applying at the local level had to be located and active in the CFC zone to which it applied and demonstrate such by listing services provided in the most recently completed calendar year. Organizations applying at the national/international level had to demonstrate qualifying services in at least 15 U.S. states or at least one foreign country within the three most recently completed calendar years.

Application Components

When a charity applies to the CFC, it must first determine whether it needs to complete a “full” or a “verification” application. A full application is required only once every three years. OPM divided the pool of 2017 charity applicants into thirds. A charity required to submit a full application (all items) in 2017 was able to submit a verification application in 2018 and in 2019. In 2020, the cycle reset and that charity was required to submit a full application once again.

A full application consists of the following items:

- an online application form,
- a description of the applicant’s services (“Attachment A”),
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990, and
- audited financial statements (waived for smaller charities).

A verification application consists of only the following:

- an online application form, and
- an IRS Form 990 or Pro Forma 990.

Charities that did not participate in the CFC in the prior year must submit a full application.

Federations

Charities may choose to enter the campaign independently, or to affiliate with a federation. Federations are 501(c)(3) tax exempt organizations, each governed by a board of directors. They must be audited annually and satisfy most of the same eligibility criteria met by individual applicants to the CFC. To qualify as a federation, an otherwise eligible organization must submit and represent a minimum of 15 qualified CFC charities in addition to itself.

Federations review charity applications to the CFC using the same criteria applied by OPM for national, international, and local charities. Federations may apply additional criteria. Once the federations have completed their reviews, they submit their recommended organizations to CFC administrators who then conduct second reviews to ensure that CFC eligibility criteria have been met.

Here are the national and international federations that participated in the 2019 CFC. (Asterisks indicate that a federation name was shortened to save space.)

National/International Federations
American National Red Cross	Health & Medical Research Charities*
America's Best Charities	Health First - America's Charities
America's Charities	Human & Civil Rights Organizations*
Animal Charities of America	LGBT Charities
Children First - America's Charities	Medical Research Charities
Christian Charities USA	Mental Health and Addiction Network
Christian Service Charities	Military and Veterans Support Groups*
Community Health Charities
Conservation and Preservation Charities*	International Federations
Earthshare	Child Aid International
Military Family and Veterans Service Orgs*	Global Impact

National and international federation participation has fallen sharply since the 2017 CFC. There were 42 national and international federations in the 2017 CFC. In the 2019 CFC, 21 national and international federations participated, a drop of 50 percent.

Organizations that apply through a federation are listed with that federation in the CFC's printed charity directory. Organizations that apply directly to the program are listed in an "Independent" section of the printed directory. The campaign's online system does not provide lists of federations and their members or of Independent charities.

An organization that participates in the CFC through a federation receives reports from its federation on how well the organization performs in the campaign. That organization's CFC donations flow through its federation.

An organization that participates as an Independent group receives pledge reports directly from the Central Campaign Administrator. They also receive donations directly from the CCA.

Generally, federations charge for their services. In the old CFC, federations typically withheld a fee from CFC donations flowing to their members. Depending on the federation and its internal operations, these fees may or may not have been apparent to the participating charities. OPM required that federations publish any such fee in their annual report. But as we reported in 2013, the language describing fees was often hard to find or, once found, hard to understand. To see our full report on this topic, Federation Fees in the Combined Federal Campaign, please visit www.wg-alliance.org/research.

In the new CFC, federations may still withhold their fees from CFC donations, but the government requires that federations inform their members in writing as to the amount being withheld. Each member must receive such a communication (e.g., an email) with the details for that member. Federations must send copies of these communications to OPM if they choose to deduct CFC fees from campaign proceeds.

Placement in the Printed Directory

Charity placement in the printed directory affects donor choice. As can happen with any lengthy list, groups listed at the front of the book appear to perform better. The government seeks to even out this effect through two techniques.

First, the government rotates the three main sections of the directory. Below, we show the order of the printed directory for the three years included in this report. We highlight International Organizations so that the reader can see how placement shifts.

2019	National Organizations – front of the directory International Organizations – middle of the directory Local Organizations – back of the directory
2018	International Organizations – front of the directory Local Organizations – middle of the directory National Organizations – back of the directory
2017	Local Organizations – front of the directory National Organizations – middle of the directory International Organizations – back of the directory

Second, within each main section of the directory, the government randomizes the sequence of the federations. Below is the order of the international federations for three years (note that it is not alphabetical). We highlight one federation, Global Impact, to show its change of position over the years. The decrease of international federations as the table progresses illustrates the extent to which federations have dropped out of the CFC since 2017.

Order	2019	2018	2017
1	Child Aid International	Intl Independent Orgs	Child Aid International
2	Global Impact	Charity Without Borders	Aid for Africa
3	Intl Independent Orgs	Global Impact	Haiti Aid
4		Child Aid International	Village by Village
5		Village by Village	Jewish Aid Worldwide
6		Aid for Africa	Global Impact
7			Intl Independent Orgs

A Million Donors Choose

Within a federation's own list, the order of its members is customarily alphabetical, but it may be adjusted by the federation.

Online search in the CFC

Searching for a charity within the printed charity guide is traditional and familiar. There is a table of contents, in which federations are listed. If donors are interested in "Medical Research Charities," they flip to a specific page and find the 15, 20 or more charities listed under the heading of this federation. Donors can also search the alphabetic index for a specific charity, or they can simply flip through the printed directory and browse eligible charities.

In more recent years, the government has caught up with the digital age, and donors can now also search for charities using an online search tool. Prior to the 2017 CFC, online search was managed by local campaign administrators, zone by zone. In a 2013 report on the topic of online search in the CFC, the Workplace Giving Alliance looked at the tremendous variance of results when searching for charities using different online search tools. The new central search portal is an improvement on earlier search tools, but it still has some limitations.

For example, searching for "art" returns many organizations that have nothing to do with art but, instead, have the three letters a r t in their name. Similarly, when searching for "cat," many organizations appear with the word catholic or education in their names. The problem, of course, is that donors may become frustrated when they cannot easily find charities they wish to support.

You may explore the CFC charity search tool yourself by visiting <https://cfcgiving.opm.gov/welcome>.

In the pages that follow, we examine the CFC performance of the 1,481 national and international organizations (including federations) that participated in the 2019 CFC. We also reflect data from the 2017 and 2018 campaigns for comparison.

We look at the pledge results for individual charities from year to year, highlight swings in performance both upwards and downwards, analyze trends in donor giving by topic, and consider the impact of charity overhead.

2019 Pledge Results

Overview

This report includes pledge results from three CFC cycles: 2017, 2018, and 2019. Pledge data was obtained from OPM for all three years.

Below are summary figures released by the Office of Personnel Management for the last three campaigns.

Source: OPM annual reports

The pledge totals for the 2019 CFC were 10.5 percent lower than for the year before. Including the additional 2.6 million dollars raised in the COVID-19 special solicitation period, pledges were 7.4 percent lower than the year before. Again, we do not include the additional 2.6 million within the data in our reports since we not have a charity by charity pledge breakdown for those additional funds.

The employee participation rate also dropped from the prior year. Since 2017, OPM has reported that the same number of potential donors were solicited year after year. This raises the question about how accurate the participation rate really is.

OPM has provided a breakdown of 2018 and 2019 pledging by type of employee. Below is a comparison of 2018 and 2019.

	Contributors		Pledges

OPM has provided a breakdown of charity results organized by CFC zone. The results are presented on the next page and are sorted by Outreach Coordinator. The totals include pledges made to all CFC charities, including local organizations. Every zone but one saw reduced pledges in 2019, compared to 2018. Eight of the 36 zones performed better than the national average. National Capital Area/Northern Virginia dropped only 7.6% which had an outsize effect on the national totals since this one zone generated more than one third of the pledges of the overall campaign.

A Million Donors Choose

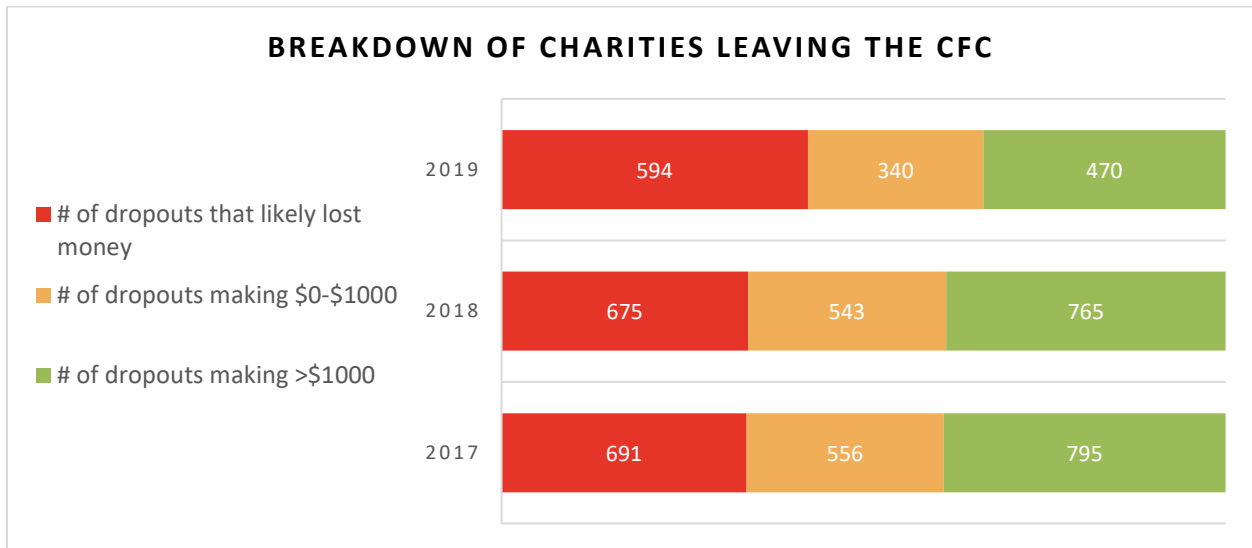

The number of charities participating in the CFC has dropped as well as pledges. Many (including us) warned that OPM’s new fees would discourage groups from applying to the campaign. The table below shows the extent of this drop among national and international charities. Participation by local charities dropped as well. This table reports the number of national and international charities participating in the 2020 CFC as well as earlier years.

The decline in charity participation led us to ask if there is any correlation between charity “drop out” from the campaign and charity performance in the campaign. The answer is, strikingly, Yes.

For this analysis we looked at national, national/international, and local participants in the 2017, 2018, and 2019 CFC. As one can see on the table on the following page, a total of 2,042 groups that participated in the 2017 CFC did not participate in the 2018 CFC. Similar numbers are presented for the 2018 and 2019 campaigns.

Groups dropped out, for one reason or another, and we have not attempted to determine the underlying cause. Still, of the number that did not enter the subsequent campaign, at least one third of the groups “lost money.” Many more failed to receive at least $1,000. To be clear, we define “lost money” to be a comparison of what a group paid to enter the CFC (the government’s first two fees) with a group’s apparent receipts from that campaign – after the third OPM fee is deducted.

Poor performance clearly correlates to a “drop out” effect.

In the remainder of this report, we focus on the pledge results for the national and international charities that participated in the 2019 campaign, with comparisons to their performance in 2017 and 2018.

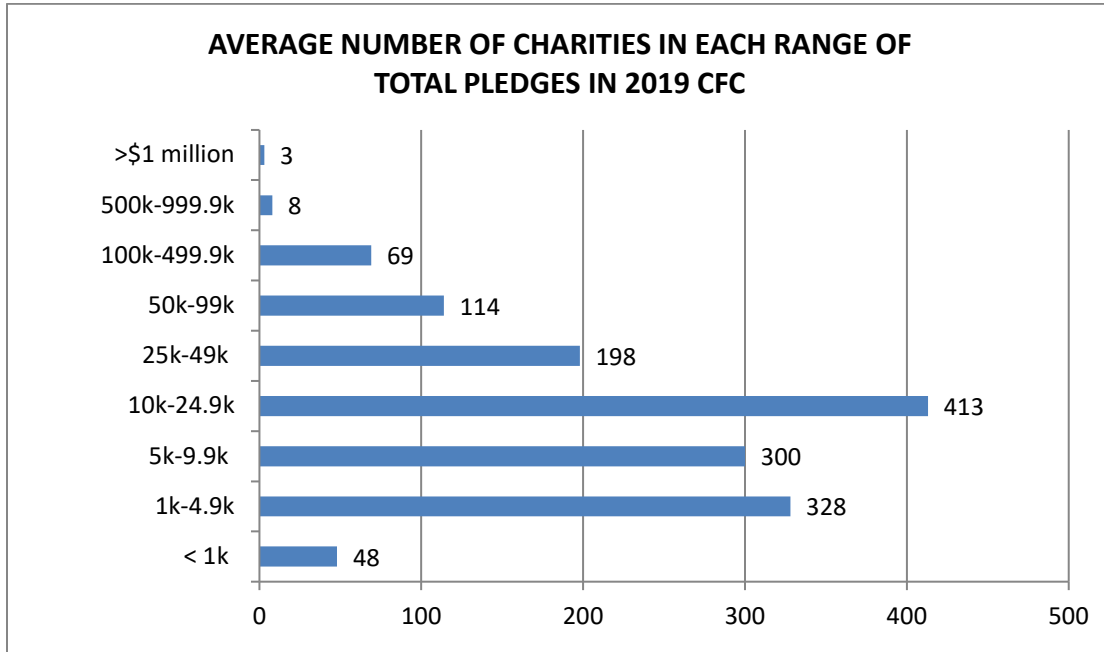

The sections below provide analysis of the data under the following headings:

- The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results
- Top 100
- Results by Topic
- Impact of Charity Overhead

The Impact of OPM Fees on Charity Pledge Results

We start with a table that shows charity performance by pledge range. The first table shows that three charities received more than $1 million in pledges in 2019. We focus on national and international charities.

The next table amends the table immediately above to reflect what charities paid to participate in the 2019 CFC through the three OPM fees: the application fee, the listing fee, and the distribution fee. We do not include what charities paid their federations – if they participated as a member of a federation.

A substantial number of participating charities lost money in the 2019 CFC – meaning they paid more to participate than they are likely to receive from the campaign. About 10 percent of participating national and international charities fell into that unhappy class. If we add groups that raised less than $1,000 in pledges and acknowledge the value of charity staff time connected to the CFC, about 18 percent will likely have invested more to participate in 2019 than they are likely to raise.

We present in the following pages results for the 100 national and international organizations receiving the highest pledges in the 2019 CFC. The amounts eventually received by the charities will be less, primarily as a result of OPM’s distribution fee and unfulfilled pledges. Again, we do not consider federation fees.

In the 2019 CFC, St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital received the highest pledge total of $4,315,027, up from $3,607,068 in 2018. The American National Red Cross was second, with pledges of $1,235,606, down slightly from $1,236,476 in the prior year. Doctors Without Borders rounded out the top three, with $1,014,645 in pledges in the 2019 CFC, down from $1,309,077 in the prior year. The last charity within the Top 100 was Oxfam America with $84,792 in pledges.

The first table below lists the Top 100 in descending pledge order. Also included are each charity’s CFC number and federation affiliation, if the group was a member of a federation in the 2019 CFC. We have shortened some of the charity and federation names to save space. For purposes of comparison, we list to the far right of the chart each charity’s rank for 2018 and 2017.

Our next table shows pledge totals for the Top 100, organized by federation. The reader will see that 87 of the top 100 charities were affiliated with a federation. Community Health Charities had 15 members in the top 100, receiving around $6.3 million in pledges. Federations, including Community Health Charities, have additional members, of course. Our table is limited to the Top 100.

We next present a table that compares the 2019 pledges totals to the 2018 totals. The list is limited to the Top 100 charities.

Total pledges in the 2019 CFC were 10.5 percent below the total for the 2018 CFC. An organization that saw its own pledge total drop by less than 10.5 percent effectively performed better than the full CFC. We have, therefore, broken the table into three sections:

- Organizations that saw their 2019 pledge total rise in comparison to 2018
- Organizations that saw their 2019 pledge total drop – but by an amount less than 10.5 percent
- Organizations that saw their 2019 pledge total drop by 10.5 percent or more.

Results by Topic

Organizations applying to the CFC are asked to describe their services by selecting from 26 topical categories offered by the government. These categories are based on the National Taxonomy of Exempt Entities (NTEE), which is used by the IRS to classify nonprofit organizations. While it is not clear whether many donors search for charities by these categories, they do provide a useful tool to help understand the extent of donor interest in any specific cause.

The CFC invites applicant charities to select up to three categories. A group might select category H (Medical Research) first, Category G (Voluntary Health Associations & Medical Disciplines) second, and Category B (Education) third. In the CFC Charity Directory, all three categories would be included in the organization's listing: H, G, B. Many charities select only one or two categories.

For our analysis, presented below, we have used only the first category – meaning the category listed first by each participating charity.

The table below shows the 2019 results, by category. They are in descending order.

Our next table shows the average performance of charities in each category – i.e., the total amount pledged divided by the number of benefiting groups. The three right-hand columns compare the ranking for the last three years. Big shifts in rankings from one year to the next may reflect a category change for a high-performing organization rather than a major difference in donor sentiment.

Impact of Charity Overhead

Each organization’s listing in the CFC Charity Directory contains a number the government calls the Administrative and Fundraising Rate (AFR). It is intended to help donors understand the administrative overhead of participating charities. When organizations applied to the CFC, they were required to calculate this overhead using figures from the group’s most recent IRS Form 990. Here is the formula:

$$(\text{Fundraising Expenses} + \text{Management Expenses}) \div \text{Revenue} = \text{CFC Administrative Overhead \%}$$

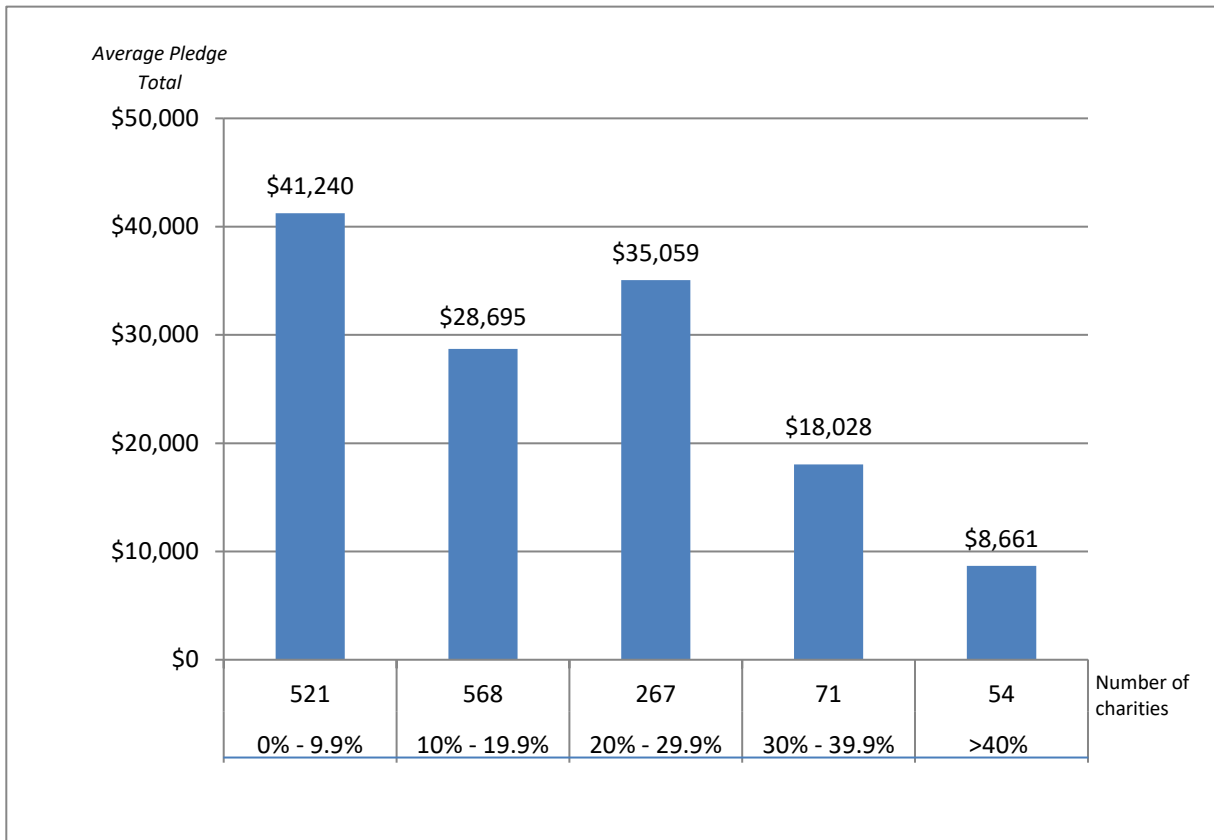

Note that the formula does not use total expense as the denominator, as is more commonly done. OPM has long felt that dividing by the revenue generates a more useful figure. Donors can find the administrative overhead figure in the CFC Charity Directory (printed or online version) in the paragraph following the name of the organization. The data suggest that many donors take note of the AFR figure but may overlook a higher overhead if a charity is well known and trusted.
